Software Development Highlights

Zedi continues to invest in your increased production with our continued quality Software developments. Here are our favorite recent developments we'd like to share with you:

- Customize critical data by organizing sensors via the well site display

- Enter site notes in Zedi Access or Zedi Go about well site performance and conditions to improve communications between field and office

- Intelligent alarming – auto demand polls verify alarm states to eliminate nuisance alarming

- Virtual sensors that use calculations, formula's and sensor values which can then be graphed, reported and alarmed on
